Anthropology Program SLOs

Upon completion of degree and certificate course work in the Anthropology program at San Jose City College, students will be able to:

- Appraise anthropology as an empirical discipline and illustrate the anthropological perspectives.

- Compare the major tools and methods anthropologists use to gather data and assess the ethical considerations involved in anthropological research.

- Define culture from an anthropological point of view and identify its major elements.

- Assess the development of anthropology as a distinct field of inquiry and the relationship between anthropology and other academic disciplines.

- Critically construct ways in which different aspects of culture - economic, social, political, and religious practices and institutions - relate to one another in an holistic cultural system.

- Assess cultural diversity enhanced by a holistic perspective on culture as integrated, dynamic, and embedded in broader processes of intercultural connection and globalization.
