E. SJCC New Program Proposals

1. Child and Adolescent Development Associate in Arts for Transfer—60 Units
   Description: The Child and Adolescent Development Associate Degree for Transfer allows students to transfer to a CSU campus to finish a bachelor’s degree in Child and Adolescent Development/Human Development/Family Studies. This interdisciplinary degree allows students to specialize in a variety of emphases: Child Development, Social and Community Specialties, Elementary Education, Advocacy, or Family and Children’s Services. A bachelor’s degree in Child and Adolescents may lead to careers working with children and families in hospitals, foster care, juvenile and family courts, social services agencies, schools or public and private service-oriented programs.

2. Emerging Technologies Entrepreneurship-Certificate of Achievement: Level 1—12 Units
   Description: Students who complete the Emerging Technologies Entrepreneurship certificates will be exposed to and become proficient in the coursework to become entrepreneurs in a technical field. This program combines the business skills necessary to make sound business decisions with the technical know-how to survive in the 21st century. Students will learn how to build and manage successful modern technical businesses.

3. Emerging Technologies Entrepreneurship-Certificate of Achievement: Level 2—18 Units
   Description: Students who complete the Emerging Technologies Entrepreneurship certificates will be exposed to and become proficient in the coursework to become entrepreneurs in a technical field. This program combines the business skills necessary to make sound business decisions with the technical know-how to survive in the 21st century. Students will learn how to build and manage successful modern technical businesses.

4. Global Studies-Certificate of Achievement Level 1—12 Units
   Description: The Global Studies Certificate includes course work that focuses on understanding the contemporary world, current global issues and the roles and responsibilities of individuals, organizations and governments. Students interested in pursuing careers in businesses, non-profit organizations or educational institutions with global connections will benefit from such knowledge. All major and certificate courses including approved major electives must be completed with a grade "C" or better.

5. Law, Public Policy, and Society Associate in Arts for Transfer—60 Units
   Description: The coursework required to earn an AA-T in Law, Public Policy, and Society has been identified as good preparation for law school upon completion of a bachelor’s degree. This interdisciplinary area of emphasis emphasizes the development of communication skills, introduces students to the legal field, and prepares students for further study in a variety of majors. Students who opt to pursue this course of study are encouraged to engage in further exploration of one or more specific majors as they select electives for degree completion.
6. Nutrition and Dietetics Associate in Science for Transfer—60 Units
Description: This degree prepares students to transfer to Nutrition and Dietetics four-year programs, and provides students opportunities to become dietitians, nutrition counselors, nutrition educators, and sports nutritionists. Nutrition is critical to medicine, health, and physical fitness: professions with rapid growth and demand.
